15:00 What if employees suddenly became actively involved in the topic of leadership?

Managers receive regular training on the topic of leadership. Everyone has an idea of what strategy to use in the team to get the best possible results. The catch is that not everyone is equally good at taking employees on an appropriate journey as part of "day-to-day" leadership or communicating what exactly the manager is trying to achieve with their behavior.

Employee Integrated Leadership: Managers actively involve their employees in the topic of leadership. Specific goals are discussed. How these are to be achieved. What requirements the manager has of the employees. In return, the employees explain what they expect from leadership. Under what conditions does each individual achieve the best possible performance. Together, a corridor is created in which maximum efficiency can be achieved in the work process.

15:00 M2X: Further standardisation in the field of AGVs in addition to VDA 5050

When implementing AGVS projects, companies fail due to high integration costs and time expenditure. There is a lack of standards, which means that AGVS are still customised solutions. As VDA 5050 shows, companies are demanding simple solutions that can be implemented quickly. The M2X project is an open source initiative that standardises AGVS interfaces in cooperation with industry and users.
